FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF FIRE COMMISSIONERS,

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING APRIL 30, 1887.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF FIRE COMMISSIONERS,
CITY HALL, BOSTON, May, 1887.

To His Honor the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Boston:—

GENTLEMEN,—In compliance with the provisions of the City Ordinance the Board of Fire Commissioners herewith presents its Fourteenth Annual Report, containing a statement of the fires and their causes, the condition of the department, and expenditures for the year ending April 30, 1887.

ALARMS AND LOSSES.

There have been during the year 827 alarms, including bell and still, resulting in a loss of $931,999,—an average loss of about $1,127 for each alarm. The number of alarms is 42 in excess of the number for the year ending April 30, 1886. Three fires caused more than a third of the total loss. These were the new England Institute building fire on Huntington avenue; the Swett-street fire, which destroyed the Bradley Fertilizer Works; and the fire at East Boston, which consumed the building and its contents belonging to the Lockwood Manufacturing Company. The unfavorable conditions under which these fires were fought are well understood by the public; and the Board has never heard the efficiency of the department questioned in regard to them. It is a significant and a creditable fact that in but few, if any, instances has fire been permitted to spread from the building or buildings in which it was found on the arrival of the department. Our citizens are to be congratulated upon this comparative immunity from large fires and great loss ; but, at the same time, they should remember that good fortune as well as an efficient fire department has been on their side. It is folly to assume that we have reached that happy level of security where disastrous fires or conflagrations are no longer possible. The pressure of all kinds of business, the avarice of owners and builders, who strain their legal privileges to the danger-point, and many other causes, combine to make Boston a highly combustible city. The full significance of this fact ought to be recognized by the public. The Fire Department and the insurance companies were not organized to relieve property-owners of responsibility, but to help them protect their property, and assist them in bearing their losses. Carelessness is altogether too common. The law regarding the closing of hoist-ways in buildings is too widely ignored. One brave member of the department lost his life from culpable if not criminal negligence in that respect. Actions have been brought by district engineers, in several instances, against owners or tenants for violations of this very proper and necessary law, and in each case a fine has been imposed, but so small as merely to vindicate the letter of the law, without carrying out its spirit. The Board does not intend to criticise judicial decisions ; but it, nevertheless, is strong in the opinion that the imposition of such exemplary penalties as the statute prescribes would secure highly beneficial results in removing many of the dangers to life and property that are now permitted to exist.

FINANCIAL CONDITION.

The financial showing of the department is favorable. Upon the basis of previous years it would probably be able to show a small surplus over all expenditures, even after equipping itself with the necessary new apparatus for the immediate future ; but the weekly payment system has called for thirteen months' salaries out of a year's appropriation, which leaves a deficit. This will naturally correct itself in time ; and, even as matters stand, the Board cheerfully invites comparison with the record of any other department. No money was spent that was not felt to be needed ; and even more than was used could undoubtedly have been applied for the decided benefit of the city. It is the policy of the Board, so far as possible, without working injustice to any class, to select, as members of the department, men of special handicrafts, more particularly carpenters, painters, cabinet-makers, masons, whiteners, plumbers, and machinists. This is not done when it would involve any sacrifice of the particular qualities which a good fireman should possess; but, in a majority of cases, it is found that men who have been accustomed to steady work in an employment requiring both muscle and skill, also constitute the best raw material for this department. In this way it is enabled to cover nearly all of the work required in necessary repairs in an excellent manner, and more promptly than it could be done by outside parties, while many thousands of dollars are thereby annually saved to the city.

GROWTH OF THE DEPARTMENT.

The Board clearly realizes that, as the city grows, constant additions must be made to the means of protecting its property interests; and it desires that, so far as possible, all sections shall be equally cared for. It has been obliged, however, to respectfully resist pressure in some instances, for the increase of companies in certain localities. It sympathizes with the demand for making various companies permanent, for the ideal department is a permanent department. At the same time the relations of territory to population in Boston are such that it may be many years before the city will be justified in making the department permanent throughout. During the past year a new house has been completed in East Boston, and a permanent chemical company located therein. A new engine-house is in process of construction at Brighton, and a house intended eventually to accommodate a ladder company and an engine company is building at Roslindale. A new house is nearly completed in Charlestown, and companies will be placed in the ladder and engine houses on Boylston street as soon as there is a street to run on. The Board has drawn its estimates to cover making Engine 14 permanent, the location of a chemical engine in South Boston, and the addition of another permanent man to each of the one-man independent hose companies. It also intends to keep the regular companies up to their maximum strength, with as few exceptions as possible. Thus the process, even if conservative, is a constantly strengthening one, which in the end, the Board trusts, will leave neither the tax-payer nor the property-owner any real ground for complaint.

THE PATROL SYSTEM.

The street-patrol system, largely peculiar to the Boston department, deserves a word of comment. Of a total of 826 alarms, 17 have been sent in by the night patrol. Some have been needless; but at least a round dozen have been for working fires. This may seem a small proportion of the whole; but their character, not their number, determines their importance. The Board has no means, of course, of mathematically estimating the value of the system, but it can instance at least three fires where minutes were worth thousands of dollars, and one where life was probably saved by an effective vigil and a prompt alarm. The system has been selected for criticism by those interested in the department on various grounds, the principal being that it unduly increases the temptations to which the men are exposed. If there are men in this service who cannot resist temptation in the discharge of a specific and an important duty, then they are in the wrong place. They are not desired in a department the distinguishing characteristics of which, the Board is proud to believe and say, are manliness, bravery, fidelity and zeal, and should retire and place themselves under the restraint and protection which society provides for beings of weak wills and feeble minds. While the present Board remains in authority the patrol will not be abolished, provided it shall continue to as triumphantly justify itself as it has justified itself in the past; and the Board tries to impress upon members of the department the fact that their zeal in preventing a fire will have equal weight with their zeal in conquering it, in their claims to recognition and reward for faithful and efficient service.

STILL-ALARMS.

The record in the Fire-Alarm Department has been one of progress; and its methods deserve, in an increased degree, the confidence that they have so long commanded. The still-alarm system has for some time been in operation in the city proper, north of Dover street, and the experiment, as yet, furnishes no grounds for a modification of the original opinion of its value. The bell system was more potent in drawing crowds to fires than it was in warning the department. It was larger in name than in fact, and it frequently tempted men to take risks of absence in which it did not protect them. By changing the system it is believed that the department loses but little, and gains much, and no reason is yet apparent why Boston cannot with advantage confirm the experience of all other large cities in the country in this respect.

THE FIRE-MARSHAL.

The creation of the position of Fire-Marshal has been confirmed within the year by the City Council, and filled by gubernatorial appointment. The relations between that office and the Board are necessarily close, and it is pleasant to add that they are also cordial. While the primary duty of the Fire-Marshal is the investigation of the causes of fires, especially those that are in any way suspicious, the Board at the outset announced to the department by general order, that its vigilance to the same end was not to be relaxed in the slightest. It is believed that this order has been faithfully obeyed, and that there has been hearty coöperation of the two departments.

OFFICERS AND MEN.

The Board extends its cordial thanks to the officers and men of the department for the intelligence and heartiness with which they have carried out its commands and wishes. Between the administrative and executive officers an excellent understanding seems to exist, which tends to promote the harmonious working of the whole department for a common end and a common good. In discipline, morale, and zeal the Boston Fire Department has never stood higher.

THE POLICE.

The Police Department is the necessary auxiliary of the Fire Department, and it has done its part in making the year's record with a zeal and helpfulness that command the sincere thanks of the Board. The relations between the two departments, both personal and official, are of the pleasantest character.

THE PROTECTIVE DEPARTMENT.

A close and friendly alliance, based on a community of duties, interests, and associations, continues to exist between this department and the Protective Department. There are no rivalries, except those of a friendly and wholesome nature; and the Board takes this opportunity to gratefully acknowledge many acts of courtesy and assistance on the part of the Protective force.

HORSES.

The number of horses in the department April 30, 1887, was 171. 22 were purchased, 21 sold or exchanged, and 1 died. During the four winter months extra horses were placed in service under agreement with the owners that such service should be without cost to the city other than the care and feed, the same as is given the regular horses of the department. The horses have received inspection from the Hospital Surgeon, who has made weekly reports to the Board of their condition and treatment, both in quarters or at the Hospital.

The number of horses receiving treatment during the year was 145, of which 45 were received at the Hospital stable; of these 13 were horses taken for department's use during the winter months. Of the horses treated 7 were incurable, 1 died.

While the number of deaths was small the past year, the number of sick and disabled has been somewhat large, which may be accounted for by the severe and prolonged weather of the past winter.

WATER AND HYDRANTS.

The total number of hydrants in the city, May 1, was 5,023. In addition to these hydrants there are 238 fire reservoirs in different sections of the city that contain from 300 to 500 hogsheads of water, and can be used in an emergency. The number of hydrants added during the year is as follows:—

76 Lowry, 38 Post, 20 Boston, and 52 Boston Lowry. The amount paid by this department for water and the care and maintenance of hydrants was $91,217, or at the rate of $20 per hydrant.

In all cases the Water Board have cheerfully complied with the requests of this Board in the establishment of hydrants whenever necessity required.

FIRE-ALARM DEPARTMENT.

The new construction and repair work done by this department within the year ending April 30, 1887, is as follows:—

Two new circuits, numbered 4 and 21, have been built at the West End, overlapping each other, so as to secure the usual alternation of the signal-boxes in their connection with head-quarters.

These circuits have been run with No. 12 hard-drawn copper wire, instead of No. 9 iron, for the purpose of using a less number of structures for their support, and the best results have been given by its use.

Brighton circuit, No. 14, has been re-run through nearly half its extent, the copper wire being used as far as the mill-dam. The box-gong service has been extended to the houses of Engines 21 and 28, and the Dorchester and West Roxbury circuits have been connected into the system.

The house of Engine 1, in Newton, has been connected by wire with Engine 29 in Brighton, for the purpose of calling assistance from the former company when desired.

Telephones have been put into the residences of Commissioners Fitch and Murphy, and house of Chemical Engine 7, making 62 stations belonging to the department, connected with head-quarters. The houses of Insurance Companies 1 and 2, and office of the Fire-Marshal are also connected with the system.

Public alarms have been discontinued at the West End and in the city proper, north of Dover street, with the exception of the bell on Faneuil Hall, which is still in service.

Eight new signal-boxes, and forty-one keyless doors have been added to the service within the year.

Renewal of old wire and extension of loops for connection of new boxes have been made, together with changes and other improvements in construction in various parts of the city.

Stock has been used as follows : —

- 33 miles No. 9 iron wire.
- 12 “ No. 12 copper wire.
- 5,500 feet Kerite wire.
- 160 lbs. cotton insulated wire.
- 12,500 feet lumber.
- 3,300 glass insulators.
- 2,400 insulator bolts.
- 6,300 lag-screws.
- 65 poles.

An aerial five-wired cable has been run through the trees on the Common, along the Park and Beacon street malls, in connection with the new construction of circuits 4, 14, and 20, previously referred to. Some changes have been introduced in the construction of the batteries which have resulted in greatly improved service in that department. No new apparatus has been added to the equipment of the operating-room, but a general renovation of the room and instruments has recently been made. The clock on Gaston school-house was destroyed by fire, April 28th, 1887.
